MESSAGE FROM THE CITY MANAGER

What a wonderful fall and holiday season in Covina! The annual Thunderfest was a huge success and the holiday events hosted in the City were joyful and well attended. As we welcome 2014 with optimism as the economy makes gradual steps toward recovery, we have much to look forward to.

Our local business climate continues to improve as is illustrated by the continuing renovation of properties and businesses in Shoppers Lane, the Rowland St. corridor, Downtown Covina, and our shopping centers located throughout the city. A new transit oriented development (TOD) style project, Citrus Village, is also under construction on north Citrus Avenue and plans for a new park facility named, "Cougar Park," shall be built and located adjacent to the Covina Valley Unified School District, District Field complex located on West Puente Street. We anticipate that construction shall commence in the Winter/Spring of 2014.

Our efforts to enhance customer service and provide public outreach continued through the hosting of town hall meetings, strategic planning meetings, weekly informational health seminars during the month of November, and the implementation of technology to improve convenience and transparency for our citizens and customers.

During the months of September and October, two meetings were held at local schools to discuss the topic of public safety and keeping our neighborhoods safe. Both Mayor, Walt Allen, and Covina Police Chief, Kim Raney, presented their views about this important topic. On October 23rd, City Hall department directors along with the City Manager and Mayor and City Council, attended our twice-annual Strategic Planning session in order to analyze current and study new ways to better serve the public. The Strategic Planning Goals that were identified relate to: Enhancing customer service, financial well-being, safety and quality of life in Covina, as well as ways to foster innovation, efficiency and sustainability. Staff was assigned ongoing assignments intended to work toward accomplishing the identified goals.

In the month of November, sometimes referred to as, "Movember," in honor of Men's health awareness month, Covina Councilmember, Kevin Stapleton, hosted a series of free weekly informational seminars geared toward men's health issues. Some of the featured topics included a focus on men's heart health, as well as ways to achieve and maintain overall good health.

As to enhancing customer service through technology, we are proud to announce that we can now be found on Facebook and Twitter. Connect with us and you will be provided with regular updates and important announcements about the Covina Community. I encourage all to stay connected, informed and involved in your City government.

Daily Temporary Overnight Parking (ONP) Permits Located at the entrance of Covina Police Department (444 N. Citrus Ave) for $3.00 will only be available for purchase by credit/debit card starting Thursday, January 2, 2014. The change to credit/debit card will provide the Police Department with a more efficient cash handling procedure. LOCATION: Covina Public Library, 234 N. Second Ave.

In celebration of Black History Month, Mrs. Teresa Kemp from Atlanta, Georgia will bring an incredible display of quilts, documents, artifacts, and photos about the Underground Railroad. The Underground Railroad was not a subway system. It was a term used to describe the secret routes enslaved men, women and children took to gain their freedom. There was a network of people who helped runaway slaves locate shelter, food, rest, and whatever else they needed. Sometimes this network was organized; often it was spontaneous and relied on quick thinking and gutsy actions. This wonderful display of original quilts and artifacts from the mid-1800s will demonstrate a way of life suffered by amazingly brave people.

LOCATION: Covina Public Library, Community Room

In celebration of Black History Month, Mrs. Teresa Kemp from Atlanta, Georgia will bring an incredible display of quilts, documents, artifacts, and photos about the Underground Railroad. The Underground Railroad was not a subway system. It was a term used to describe the secret routes enslaved men, women and children took to gain their freedom. There was a network of people who helped runaway slaves locate shelter, food, rest, and whatever else they needed. Sometimes this network was organized; often it was spontaneous and relied on quick thinking and gutsy actions. This wonderful display of original quilts and artifacts from the mid-1800s will demonstrate a way of life suffered by amazingly brave people.

Covina Police Department
Special Response Team Armored Rescue Vehicle

This year, the Covina Police Department acquired this armored rescue vehicle through the Federal Defense Reutilization Program. The Mine Resistant Ambush Protected (MRAP) is an armored vehicle designed for the U.S. military with the purpose of surviving attacks from improvised explosive devices (IEDs) and ambushes. Designed from the ground up, the "V"-shaped hulls reduced casualties and increased survivability for military personnel by deflecting explosive forces originating below the vehicle. Typically, these explosions were from land mines, but they could have been from IEDs.

The design dates back to the 1970s when it was first introduced in specialized vehicles built by and for the Rhodesian army, and further developed by South African manufacturers, starting in 1978 with the armored personnel carrier (APC).

The most current MRAP program was prompted by U.S. troop deaths in Iraq. In 2007, the U.S. military ordered the production of about 10,000 MRAPs at a cost of over $500,000 each.

Post war reductions are underway and local police departments throughout the United States are acquiring the MRAP vehicle, which allow the Defense Department to redistribute equipment it no longer needs to state and municipal agencies. Instead of buying a new vehicle which could cost up to $600,000, law enforcement agencies have accepted surplus MRAPs from the Pentagon for free.

Police Department staff evaluated the vehicle and through the help of the community, they have retrofitted it into an armored rescue vehicle for the Covina Police Department Special Response Team. The 4x4 vehicle is equipped with an International DT530 engine and Allison 5 speed transmission, has top speed of 70 mph, and a gross vehicle weight of 40,000 lbs.

Police & Fire Personnel Honored by Covina Chamber of Commerce

Police Officer of the Year

Covina Police Officer Antonio (Tony) Zavala was hired by the Covina Police Department in June of 2001. Prior to joining the department Tony was an active United States Marine from November 1992 until March 2001, and continued serving our country as a Marine Corp Reserve from March 2001 until April 2004. Tony served two lengthy combat tours, the first in Columbia in 1998 for six months, and he was deployed to Iraq in February 2003 for eight months before returning to resume his police career. Tony began his career as a patrol officer and was quickly recognized as a peer leader. In 2004 he became one of the department's Arrest and Control Instructors, a position he still holds. In 2005 Tony was selected to the Special Response Team (SRT), and currently maintains a position as one of two SRT Precision Rifle Snipers, a position that requires extensive training, excellent marksmanship, and critical decision making skills. In 2007 he became a Field Training Officer, teaching new officers all facets of patrol. In 2008 he was assigned to the Detective Bureau, initially investigating domestic violence cases; however, his talents as an investigator led to his assignment as a Crimes Persons Detective, where he investigates a range of crimes from simple battery to homicide. Tony is a tenacious investigator, and his investigative skills and teamwork have led to his receipt of two awards from the California Commission on Peace Officer Standards and Training for Investigative Excellence.

Firefighter/Paramedic of the Year

Battalion Chief Jim Enriquez has served the Los Angeles Fire Department since January of 1986. Currently assigned to Covina, Enriquez has a special affinity for our community, with fond memories of Covina Park as a youth growing up in neighboring Baldwin Park. He recalls climbing the metal rocket ship and, of course, the fire truck, as well as swimming in the Plunge. After a tour in the United States Army, Enriquez embarked on an impressive career as a Firefighter/Paramedic in both Washington and here in California. He has most recently played an important role in regional emergency preparedness, bringing this collaborative expertise to Covina.

Civilian Police Employee of the Year

Covina Police Records Clerk Alice Avalos was hired by the Covina Police Department in July of 1985. Prior to joining the Covina Police Department, Alice was a Police Explorer for the Los Angeles Police Department. Alice was raised in Los Angeles and graduated from Lincoln High School. After high school Alice studied at Rio Hondo and Mt. San Antonio colleges, and worked for the Covina Valley Unified School District as an Instructional Aid in ESL classes, assisting students with the transition into regular classroom settings. Alice worked for the district for 35 years. In 1985 she competed for the Police Aide position at the Covina Police Department and finished as the #1 candidate, and has worked two jobs simultaneously for many years while raising her three children. The Police Aide position transitioned to the Records Clerk position she maintains, and she works various assignments within the division. Additionally Alice has assisted sworn police personnel during critical incidents and participated in a variety of City sponsored training.

Water Conservation

Please be advised that the Public Works Director has declared a Level One (I) WATER SUPPLY SHORTAGE effective May 20, 2013. This is due to a reduced supply of water from our primary water source, as well as ongoing drought conditions. As of the print date of this publication, the water supply conditions had not improved. We need your help conserving to ensure that all of our customers have the water that they need, when they need it, especially in an emergency.

Ongoing water conservation requirements always in place include: No automated irrigation between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.; No excessive water flow or runoff; No washing down hard or paved surfaces; and Limiting unattended irrigation to 15 minutes per station per day.

The Level One Shortage requires additional water conservation measures. These additional restrictions include: Irrigation is limited to Monday, Wednesday and Saturday only (does not include hose with shut-off nozzle or buckets); and leaks must be repaired within 72 hours of notice from the City.

Violations are subject to fine, penalty assessment, or possible criminal prosecution.

Covina is committed to conservation, regardless of drought conditions. Visit the Water Conservation page of the City website at <http://www.covinaca.gov/city-departments/public-works/water/water-conservation> for more information or additional water conservation ideas. Thank you for conserving.

Regardless of water supplies, the California State Legislature adopted a law in 2009 that requires us to reduce our per capita water use 10% by 2015 and 20% by 2020.

SEWER SMART TIPS FOR PROTECTING YOUR HOME

Your sewer lateral is the property owner's responsibility, all the way to where it connects to the City's main sewer line, regardless of your property boundary. It is important to maintain that line properly to avoid unnecessary costly repairs and sewage back-ups.

Sanitary sewer systems are designed to handle three types of waste products:

- Used water
- Human body waste
- Toilet paper

Disposal of other items can be detrimental to the system. Follow these simple DOs and DON'Ts to help prevent sewer backups and avoid expensive plumbing and cleanup bills:

DO

- Collect grease in a container with a lid and throw it in the garbage.
- Put food scraps in your compost bin or the trash barrel or bin.
- Place a wastebasket in the bathroom to dispose of items such as disposable diapers and personal hygiene products.
- Use a backflow prevention device as needed.

DON'T

- Pour grease, fats and oils from cooking down the drain.
- Use the sewer to dispose of food scraps.
- Use the toilet as a wastebasket for garbage or chemicals.
- Plant trees with shallow, spreading root systems near your sewer lateral. Tree roots seek water sources, such as cracked sewer lines.
- Flush anything other than toilet paper. Do not flush paper towels, tissues or wipes, even if marked "flushable."

GRAFFITI REMOVAL

To report graffiti in public rights-of-way within the Covina City limits, call (626) 384-5599.

Please provide the following information:

1. The address where the graffiti is located - For example, "125 E College St." or "At the intersection of Citrus and College."
2. The location of the graffiti (be as detailed as possible) - Such as, "On the south-west block wall," or "On the stop sign facing east."
3. Your phone number - This information is needed in case the graffiti removal staff needs more information.

Graffiti located on private property should be reported to the owner or property manager.

Covina's First Lady Cornelia Nelson Hunt Phillips

By Barbara Ann Hall, Ph.D.

Cornelia Nelson
Hunt Phillips

Covina's first lady, Cornelia Nelson Hunt Phillips was born June 19, 1855, in Big Flat, California. Her father, David Nelson Hunt, was from Huntsville, Alabama. His great grandfather founded the town. Her mother Cornelia Beazeley's maternal great grandfather was a captain in the Revolutionary War. Her father, his brother and a partner were working a successful gold mining claim in Big Oak Flat when he was killed. Research indicated that he was murdered. Unfortunately, he had not been able to capitalize on his discovery before he died. Cornelia grew up and became a school teacher. In the 1880 Census, she is listed as a school teacher living in the home of Joseph Swift Phillips, a successful grain farmer in the Sacramento Delta. In 1879, after the death of his wife Annie May Connerton Madden, Phillips hired Cornelia to teach and care for his three young children: Anna, George and Grace. Phillips decided to move to Los Angeles and build a gang plow factory with A.L. Bath. He and Cornelia were married in an Episcopal Ceremony on July 19, 1880. They made their first home on Downey Avenue and later moved to Fourth and Spring Streets. The children attended school at the site of the arcade building between Broadway and Spring Streets.

In 1881, Phillips rode into the Covina Valley, then referred to as the Azusa Valley. He fell in love with the land and purchased two thousand acres from the Los Angeles banker, John Hollenbeck. The land was part of the five thousand six hundred and sixty-three acres sold to the Badilla brothers by Charlotte Gray Rowland and her children Victoria and Albert. Phillips sold his interest in the plow factory and moved his family into the former home of Julian Badilla on the corner of what is now Hollenbeck and San Bernardino Road. Phillips' land, in a great cove below the San Gabriel Mountains, was filled with wild grape vines. Some writers credit Cornelia for coining the name Covina from Cove of vines, others credit Frederick Eaton, the young engineer Phillips hired to survey his property. Eaton named a street in the townsite Dexter in honor of Cornelia's son Joseph Dexter Phillips, who was born on November 16, 1884, while the survey was being made. Cornelia and Phillips had eight children: Laura Hannon Phillips, Gladys Irene Phillips, Joseph Dexter Phillips, Frances Hamilton Phillips, Elizabeth Hunt Phillips, Roy Phillips, Winifred A. Phillips and Helen Fidelia Phillips.

Joseph Swift
Phillips

Cornelia Hunt Phillips and daughter
Helen Phillips
1909

Cornelia was one of the first teachers in the Union Sunday school organized on May 17, 1885, after the first church service conducted in Covina. In January 1889, a group of Episcopalians including Cornelia, Italia Richmond Cook, and Mrs. E. R. Richmond persuaded the Reverend J.D. Browne, a retired Episcopal minister to hold occasional services in the Covina Social Hall. Prior to that time Episcopalians met in the homes of Italia Richmond Cook and Cornelia Phillips. After the services were held in the social hall, a Sunday school was organized and on June 16, 1889, a parish was officially organized. A small wooden church was built in 1891 and it was blown down the same year by the great December wind of 1891. Unfortunately, the town organ was in the Holy Trinity at the time and was crushed. Cornelia had worked hard with the Union Sunday school to raise money to buy the organ. It was to be used by all the churches in Covina. Many strawberry socials and oyster suppers had been held to raise the money to buy it. The Phillips were very musical. The concert grand piano they purchased when they were first married is still in the family.

In the late eighties, after Phillips had successfully brought water to Covina and the community was developing well, a bad investment in a Northern California mine forced Phillips to find new business interests. The family moved from Covina to Lugo near Lynwood, later to Pomona and finally to Westminster where he farmed and engaged in real estate. On October 25, 1905, he died while driving a buggy accompanied by Cornelia from Long Beach to Westminster. He is buried at the Evergreen Cemetery. Many Covina friends attended his funeral in Los Angeles, and a special memorial service was held for him at Covina High School. C.E. Bemis told the students the story of Covina's founding. Cornelia died at the home of her daughter Mrs. Williams Hopkins in San Francisco. Her funeral was held at the church she helped to found, Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Covina. The interment was in Oakdale Cemetery. The service was conducted by her old pastor Reverend Benton, Reverend Hatter of Santa Ana, and Reverend Bertrand M. Hause of Holy Trinity. Pall bearers were Dan Reichard, De Forest Reichard, Ed G. Prather, John O. Houser, Charles Eastman and H.M. Rogertson. Many old friends from the city and the valley attended. According to the Covina Argus, "Mrs. Phillips was identified with all the early social activity of the valley, and was known as a woman of exceptional ability and loveable character."

We are deeply grateful to Cornelia and Joseph Swift Phillips' descendant David Morin and his wife Ann for their donation to the Covina Valley Historical Society of original archival records, photographs and family histories; that has opened a new research chapter on Covina's founding couple.
